Birds of Lye Valley... and beyond

Tom Bedford

Local ornithologist and wildlife photographer

This talk will discuss the birds found in the Lye Valley area of Headington (including Warneford Meadow, the Oxford Golf Course and the Churchill Hospital) since 2019.

Tom will discuss some of the resident bird species found in the Lye Valley area, season-by-season, illustrated with his photographs and his sound recordings, all taken in the Lye Valley area.

The focus will then move on to the birds that migrate over the Lye Valley area, some from distant parts of our planet.

Tom will show how these bird species connect the Lye Valley area of Oxford with remote locations such as the tundra of the Arctic, the forests of Siberia and the plains of Iceland.

Tom will be happy to answer your questions

Tom will also give tips on caring for garden birds in winter and will discuss tips for producing successful photos.
